Introduction

Queen Elizabeth National Park is located in the western region of Uganda, the Park spreads across more than 1900 squares kilometers of virtual in touched land endowed with lush vegetation and rich wildlife. Everywhere you look, you are rewarded with a breath taking view of the grand designs of Mother Nature. To its west are the magical three- spiked otherworldly mountain ranges of the Rwenzori described as the “mountains of the moon”, to the East are the spectacular high raised Rift valley hills, guardians of the birthplace of making and separated from the Rwenzori by the meandering Kazinga Channel which flows endlessly into two giant lakes, Lake George and Lake Edward.
